including Podcasts, Zines, and Newspaper Theatre. The skills learned during the exchange will then be used to create individual projects, which will be presented in a public community showcase at the end of the exchange. The objectives of these activities are to give youth a varied digital literacy while empowering them to use media to speak up and connect interculturally with those disparate in their own community and around Europe. We hope to increase awareness and understanding of the young people about their personal and individual impact which can lead to initiatives in their native countries.

The project, therefore, has the objectives:

- To increase the understanding of the problem of violent radicalization of young people and the role youth can play in preventing the problem through their own opinions and perceptions told through various mediums.
- To equip youth participants with media tools and techniques which will arouse a comprehension of their own perceptions and how they can help promote values of respect, tolerance and independence.
- To encourage critical thinking, reflection, and expression of participants and others' opinions so they can stimulate open, productive dialogue.
- To strengthen relations between European organizations and societies in order to bolster anti-radicalization in their own communities in line with objectives of EU's external actions

Participant profile:

The youngsters should come from the local community of the partner organization, but that shouldn't be a limiting factor, so if there are youngsters from other regions, they are more than welcome. There will be 6 participants and one group leader from each partner organization. Participants will be between the ages of 18 and 30 years old, and the leader should be 18+ with a stable link to the sending organization and an active role in it, preferably a youth worker or at least an experienced member. Participants should have a good knowledge of the working language in English, and a great willingness to be a part of a multi-cultural group.

Previous experience in theatre is not required but participants should show initiative for learning new media and theatre methods, working with other young people.

All partners should do their best to create gender balanced teams (4+3 including group leaders)

Preparation pack:

After the selection of all participants, we will send you the preparation pack in which you will have more info about the venue, workshops, your tasks and Germany.
